Starting with a stumble last fall, some of the clubs in the association appeared to be in for a season of rough going. However, while Debating and Political Science never did quite overcome the handicaps of a bad getaway, the outstanding successes of the other societies more than made up for this sluggishness.

Don McCormick, jockeying the schedule man, which was filled durphilharmonic Society, rode home to give the Mikado one of its best performances in years in these parts. Until this year, Philharmonic's financial status has always been the chief nightmare of the treasurer, but after the way the President of the society ran his business this season, it appears that the performers of "Gilbert and Sullivan" are now in a position to talk back

The Dramatic Society likewise seemed not to lack enthusiasm and support this past semester. Under the wing of Bill Prowse, president, productions were of high calibre. More so than usual, the Interyear Plays attracted a capacity audience Plays attracted a capacity audience at their "one-night" stand. Bob Black, sophomore director, accepted the award to the Soph class for the best play. Our Spring Play this season, "What Say They?" directed by E. Maldwyn Jones, did not quite meet expectations, but individual performances were outstanding. For her unending efforts in connection with Dramatics, Beth Rankin (whom we shall all miss so much now that she has graduated) was this year awarded the Literary Ring. Hitting all the snags that crop up on a campus in wartime, the Debating Society this past season was on the proverbial "skids." # Gateway Editor's Report!

The Gateway has now completed its thirty-first year of publication, and for the first time in its entire history has ended up with a financial deficit—a very small one, it is true, but nevertheless in the red. I am not in the least apologetic for failure to turn back the usual substantial surplus for I feel that the stantial surplus, for I feel that the high standard which The Gateway attained this year, and in particular the more than satisfactory last issue, warranted the expenditure. As a newspaper The Gateway can continue to hold its worthy position in the field of college publications, in spite of the criticism levelled at it by the arm-chair critics. by the arm-chair critics.

Mac Burka (left), Valedictorian for the Senior Class, who delivered a stirring message at Valedictory Service, Saturday, and Florence Brent, who replied to the toast to the Graduating Students at the Alumni Dinner and Dance.

This criticism was in the main destructive, the only constructive suggestions coming from the Committee to investigate The Gateway set up by the Committee on Student Affairs. At this point I wish to thank the members of this committee, and Dean Newton in particular for the extensive and comprehensive report which their attempts to outfit themselves with gowns, hoods and mortar boards, the official regalia of the degree receiving ceremony, graduands were not too busy to attend the Valedictory service in Convocation Hall Saturday afternoon. I would suggest to my successors that the style of make-up be retained, at least during the period of the war, for any major change would involve heavy costs, expenditure which would be impossible during these times. The informativeness of news stories, and the coverage of the valedictory service. The tree was heavy costs, expenditure which would be impossible during these times. The informativeness of news stories, and the coverage of the campus has been better this year, and although in several cases the reports have lacked accuracy, I can only explain this by lack of experience on the part of the news staff, their eagerness to make their stories acceptable to the editor, and lastly to the inability of the editor to closely scrutinize each write-up. I feel that this can be remedied by a new set-up in the staff. I would recommend:

letic Board this session. Its revival and contributed to this past year was, in no small part, due to the efforts of Dr. MacEachran, one of The principal are as follows: its faculty members. In its new and clearly defined position, the future athletic problems and poli-cies of the University will be decided in a thorough and constitutional manner.

Largely due to Mr. Panton's efforts, the Big Block Club has been a service organization, endeavoring to set forth higher standards of sportsmanship and others. reorganized and has assumed its commendable way, namely, that of providing various comforts for gradsportsmanship and athletic ability, and to carry the University athletic standard to all parts of the province.

The Women's Athletic program, again under Mr. Panton's supervision, has vastly improved. A curriculum, emphasized by the higher authorities on physical education in the United States of America and the United States of America and Europe, has been instituted. This curriculum consists of games which may be carried away from University by the participant—a most desirable thing in any sphere of a college education, cultural, scientific or recreational.

Colour Night

Another innovation this year which undoubtedly will take a prominent place in University life is that of "Colour Night"—a formal presentation of all awards achieved and attained in executive, literary and athletic fields by the students dur-ing the year. Its notable success this year was largely due to the hard work of Mr. Cecil Robson, and this year was largely due to the acting on this the outgoing execu-hard work of Mr. Cecil Robson, and to him goes almost the entire credit for its inauguration and undoubtedly sound foundation.

The inauguration of the new locker room and Central Check room in Athabaska Hall has proven one of the finest innovations in recent years. In Mr. Erick Badrock, of the Athabaska Hall staff, we have a most conscientious keeper of equipment and this year losses of equipment will be almost nil, due to his earnest efforts.

Jim Panton One more feature of the athletic side of University life must be mentioned here, and that is the excellent work of the retiring Acting Athletic Director and head of the Depart-ment of Physical Education, Mr. James Panton. The efforts of Mr Panton, since arriving here last fall, have extended into every line of campus athletic endeavor. The nearunited reaction of the campus to his release is perhaps the best testi-mony to the high esteem in which he is held, and I should like to take this last opportunity of expressing the best wishes of the entire student body for a highly successful future to the head of a department which the University has seen fit to disband as an economic measure.

Literary Association The Literary Association experienced a rather notable year in that its Philharmonic Society produc-tion, "The Mikado," was most suc-cessfully presented both here and in Calgary, and heightened the al-ready high reputation of the society, its performers and its directors. Un fortunately, certain branches of this association met with poor response notably the Political Science Club the Public Speaking Club and, to a lesser degree, the Debating Society and Band. This apparent lack of interest may be attributed to the students' time, I believe.

The McGoun Cup debating series was conducted as usual, and debating a rather obscure and peculiar subject, Saskatchewan managed to eke out a close win over Alberta.

The Dramatic Society experienced its greatest success with the everpopular Interyear Plays in November, which might well be staged two nights, in so far as audience appeal is concerned. The Spring Play, it is felt, left something to be desired, for the amount of time, money and energy expended in its production. In conversation, opinion seems to be that if the performance is to be for the student body, who in the final analysis pay for it, it might be final analysis pay for it, it might be platforms, and propaganda which well to select a less difficult and might put Herr Goebbels to shame more popular play which, I am sure, ranging from dive bomber attacks would be appreciated by many more to free shoe shines. Social Functions

The control of social functions came in for considerable discussion I shall deal specifically with:

1. The Contact Fund.—This was, earlier in the session and, after at first, a rather elaborate scheme contacting other universities in this regard, it was felt that in view of the unstable conditions confronting the University and its entire social life, it would be wise to not intro-duce a new scheme of social superuates, undergraduates and faculty now in active service. However, vision, when the future was most there has been some misunderstanduncertain. However, in more re-cent conversations with the Proing here, and I might explain that several obstacles presented themselves to this plan. After an auspicious beginning, the question of the constitutionality of expending students' money on such a fund was raised. A sub-committee of the Constitutionality of expending

the ensuing years.

The Book Exchange, under the direction of the S.C.M., convened by Mr. Robert Henderson, did an almost land office business com-pared to other years, and Mr. Henderson has presented a most comprehensive report of its activities and recommendations for a more efficient handling of the Exchange in the future, thus providing ar added service to many students.

The Provincial News Department.

under the direction of Mr. Pritchard, has continued to thrive, and largely through the co-operation of CKUA the news of student life has been carried home to parents and friends and perhaps students of the future. A series of constitutional amendments recommended by the 1940-41 the credit to date is due to the efforts of Dr. Arch. McEwen, now House Committee, designed to relieve several embarrassing situations at House Dances in past years, were adopted on the assumption that they would be administered in a wholly constitutional and effective manner by succeeding committees.

Sadie Hawkins Week

The famed Sadie Hawkins Week made its appearance on the campus again during the fall, and was carried out with a vigor which, at times, approached the near proporvices, as well as seeking ways and means of providing the finances necessary for this purpose. Their work, as well as that of the faculty advisers, is indeed appreciated by everyone, and I trust it is a venture tions of the better class Med-En-gineer battles of a few years ago. The week seemed ill-fated from the beginning, and in retrospect, I do not see how it could have helped but lead to trouble in one way or another. It is my own personal opinion that a great deal of trouble all our traditions were in a similar and ill-feeling might be avoided if some sort of satisfactory constituthe replies of some of its recipients tional conciliation might be reached to apprecate the worthiness of the cause. The fund this Christmas, and student fervor becomes an indespite several setbacks due to canfluence and seriously complicates cellation of some of the contributing matters. best wishes for a continued resizable amount was realized. 5. Red Cross.—At least two of the expressing appreciation to Miss Patmajor University functions this term dispensed with the formality of a taking over the duties of Acting corsage, and Red Cross ribbons were appropriately substituted. This is another feature which might be con-committee which, when times return to normal, may well lead to the revival of that peculiar, indefinable thing known as "College Spirit," which is indeed a splendid aim.

The visit of the members of the Legislative Assembly was another venture in which the students may take pride. The affair was attended by some 50 members, while almost 40 availed themselves of the opportunity to tour the buildings after the dinner, which is indeed a tribute to the interest of the legislators in their University. I should like to express my thanks to Professor Jones, Dr. MacEachran and Mr. Bridgeman for their help, as well as to the entire University for its co-operation and assistance in after their investigation, is certainly making such a successful evening.

Financial Arrangements

This year's Council has made some rather important financial arrange-ments also, namely: has an unenviable position at best. He is often the target of more critiments also, namely:
1. Purchase of some $2,000 worth of War Bonds.

Ninth annual Banff School of Fine Arts will be held this year from Aug. 1 to Aug. 30. This school combines recreation and study under internationally known artists. In the past eight years it has made great strides. This year further develop-ments have been added. The Banff School offers courses in Drama, Art, Weaving and Design, Modelling and Pottery, Oral French and also two courses in Music. Fees

Following the lead set by the Governors, any student receiving a rebate on his University fees was allowed redemption of his Students' Union fees. It is interesting to note that more than 325 undergraduates, graduates and faculty are now in active service, and since last September almost 40 of our undergraduates have enlisted.

This Council has recommended the more important constitutional amendments provided for in the report, and it is sincerely hoped that the new Council will act on them, as The Gateway Committee, in a better position to know what is desired and required than either old or new councils.
